NESTLÉ HEALTH SCIENCE

Empowering healthier lives through nutrition

At Nestlé Health Science we are forging a new path for nutrition as a leader in the field of nutritional science. We add quality and hope to the lives of tens of millions of people every single day, empowering consumers, patients and health care professionals to take charge of their health.

We care about the future and we make moves both for the good of our consumers and for our planet. We are committed to creating a sustainable future for everyone.

We are rapidly expanding and accelerating our business to continue delivering our purpose globally. We have more than 5,000 employees around the world, with a presence in 66 countries, delivering more than 900 million products every year.

JOIN US ON OUR MISSION

Packaging Assistant

We are looking for an enthusiastic and highly driven graduate to join our Nestle Health Science Youth Programme (NHSc) for the second year running. We will start you out with two fantastic years on specific NHSc and Vitaflo projects across the globe where you will be given responsibility to the real world environment from day one.

Starting as a Packaging Assistant at our Vitaflo (International) Ltd business in Liverpool, UK, you will work closely with the Operations department in supporting key projects to improve business processes and support sustainability and compliance of Vitaflo's product packaging. You will be involved in:

- Reviewing and identifying opportunities to improve the packaging changeover process at key contract manufacturers by improving visibility of stock and version control of packaging within the company
- Reviewing pack and wrap specifications against Nestle standards for sustainability
- Optimising specifications to maximise pallet efficiency where possible, reduce CO2 emissions and storage space where possible
- Defining and developing a review schedule for packaging documentation and certification to ensure packaging compliance continues to be maintained in the future

Once you've completed this rotation, you will be jetting off to two other NHSc businesses to support their operations departments in driving their operations and sustainability strategy. To be successful for the programme, you will:

- Be educated to degree level ideally in Material Science, Environmental Science, Chemistry or Food Technology (Minimum 2:1)
- A good commercial and operational understanding
- Numerate with good mental agility
- Excellent communication skills
- Excellent attention to detail
- Experience of working in an international environment and / or with technical teams is highly desired
- Work experience within an operations department such as process, packaging, supply chain, logistics is a great advantage but not a requirement
- Flexible, mobile and willing to travel across the world!

& WE'LL SUPPORT YOU ON YOUR MISSION

- Competitive salary & benefits
- The chance to collaborate with an international network of experts
- Lifelong learning and development throughout your career
- Opportunities to develop your career across the world

WE WIN WITH PEOPLE WHO INSPIRE US

You want to explore new territory, see the world, understand it and be part of it. You will be working in countries across the globe so being geographically mobile is a must.

You're not afraid to ask questions. Your inquisitive mindset allows you to learn and take calculated risks.

You are forward thinking, digitally savvy and eager to seek ways to improve processes. You are not afraid to challenge the status quo and be the catalyst for change!

You jump at the opportunity to get involved with colleagues on projects. You are always open to fresh ideas.

You love to collaborate with a diverse range of people. You leverage the diversity of backgrounds and experiences.

You build strong bonds and create a climate of trust amongst others. You work as part of a team constructively and with integrity.

You thrive in an organisation that is constantly adapting. You evolve with the business to meet customer needs.

You deliver against clear, actionable and measurable priorities. You are focused on what matters to the consumer and the patient.

You deliver consumer value with a lean and nimble mindset.

COULD YOU BE WHO WE ARE LOOKING FOR?

Does this sound like you?
